ACLU of Hawaii Demands Immediate Retraction from U.S. Attorney in Hawaii, Doctors Still Have Constitutional Right to Recommend Medical Marijuana. June 8, 2005 - HONOLULU – The American Civil Liberties Union of Hawaii (ACLU) demanded in a letter today that U.S. Attorney Ed Kubo immediately retract comments threatening to arrest doctors who recommend medical marijuana to their patients.

“The U.S. Attorney got it wrong,” said Lois Perrin, Legal Director of the ACLU of Hawaii. “Doctors have a clear right to continue to recommend medical marijuana, and that right is protected by the United States Constitution. If we have to, we will go to federal court next week to reaffirm doctors’ rights.” Visit: <http://www.acluhawaii.org/pages/news/050608MedMarijuana.html>

SUMMARY: Governor Ben Cayetano signed Senate Bill 862 into law on June 14, 2000. The law took effect on December 28, 2000. The law removes state-level criminal penalties on the use, possession and cultivation of marijuana by patients who possess a signed statement from their physician affirming that he or she suffers from a debilitating condition and that the "potential benefits of medical use of marijuana would likely outweigh the health risks." Patients diagnosed with the following illnesses are afforded legal protection under this act: cachexia; cancer; chronic pain; Crohn's disease; epilepsy and other disorders characterized by seizures; glaucoma; HIV or AIDS; multiple sclerosis and other disorders characterized by muscle spasticity; and nausea. Other conditions are subject to approval by the Hawaii Department of Health. Patients (or their primary caregivers) may legally possess no more than one ounce of usable marijuana, and may cultivate no more than seven marijuana plants, of which no more than three may be mature. The law establishes a mandatory, confidential state-run patient registry that issues identification cards to qualifying patients. To date, about 200 cards have been issued. "Medical cannabis outlook clarified" By Ken Kobayashi, Advertiser Courts Writer. "U.S. Attorney Ed Kubo says he won't seek from the state a list of doctors who certify marijuana use for their patients and he won't prosecute the physicians just because they recommend the drug use. But, Kubo says, doctors could face prosecution if, for example, they certify marijuana use for a condition that is not "debilitating" as required under the state medical marijuana law; direct a patient to get marijuana from a street dealer; or give a patient a sample of marijuana." The Honolulu Advertiser ... Judge Bans Prosecution of Doctors Who Prescribe Marijuana Dateline: 9/10/00. A California federal judge has ruled that the federal government cannot prosecute doctors who recommend or prescribe marijuana for medically valid treatment of patients. On Friday, Sept. 8, 2000, U.S. District Court Judge William Alsup in San Francisco issued a permanent injunction banning the federal government from taking any action, including investigation, leading to the revocation of a physician's license "merely because the doctor recommends medical marijuana to a patient based on a sincere medical judgment." Marijuana has many possible medical uses. Positive effects are claimed for ailments such as cancer, AIDS, and glaucoma. AIDS can cause a loss of appetite known as "wasting syndrome", which can lead to drastic weight loss and weakness. Chemotherapy used in the treatment of cancer causes nausea resulting in an inability to keep down food. Marijuana's healing nature for these two illnesses is a result of its ability to increase a person's appetite as well as relieving nausea, allowing a patient to regain weight. Marijuana reportedly helps glaucoma patients by reducing intraocular pressure that can cause damage to the eye. Visit: http://marijuana-seeds-cannabis.com/marijuana_seeds_cannabis_Medical.php
